

Andrea is an authentic, passionate, strategic commercial leader with 20 years in the healthcare pharmaceutical space. She has held various commercial roles from a regional to national level and has won local, national and global awards for her strong commercial results launching new products in Canada. She has consistently transformed and built many high performing teams to great success across various therapeutic areas both in pharma and digital healthcare working for Abbott, Grifols, Shire/Takeda and Telus healthcare. Currently she works for BeiGene as the Commercial Lead for Canada working in Oncology.

She grew up in a strong entrepreneurial family and this experience at an early age has translated well into her corporate roles. She has an entrepreneurial spirit and a passion for learning and leading others in healthcare. As a commercial leader, mentor and coach, Andrea's vision is to "awaken passion and potential". She believes and encourages individuals to use their strengths and passions to reach their full potential. Andrea loves to be inspired and enjoys inspiring others to be the best possible version of themselves. In her spare time she enjoys being active outdoors with her 3 children and her husband Dan.
