

Maggy Mouradian

I'm Maggy Mouradian, a bilingual ICF Certified Coach with upwards of 20 years of experience in the corporate world leading high achievers to success.

I am passionate about helping women find their voice and reach their full potential. Inspired by my own experiences on the receiving end of coaching, I feel awakened as a woman, a professional leader, a coach, a wife, and a mother of 2 beautiful daughters.

I know you are a resourceful woman and as your coach, I will help you deepen your self-awareness and begin to connect more with your purpose. I will help you identify your own goals, discover answers, find solutions, and create possibilities to move forward. Most importantly, through our coaching you will become inspired to bring your vision to life.

I am authentic, approachable and create a supportive environment for you to share and explore your passions. You will find that I am an intuitive listener that will always be fully present as we walk this path together.

I am excited to take this journey together as you gain new insights and become empowered to create an amazing future.
